EURAPO MARINE

INNOVATIVE AIR CONDITIONING ON THE OPEN SEA

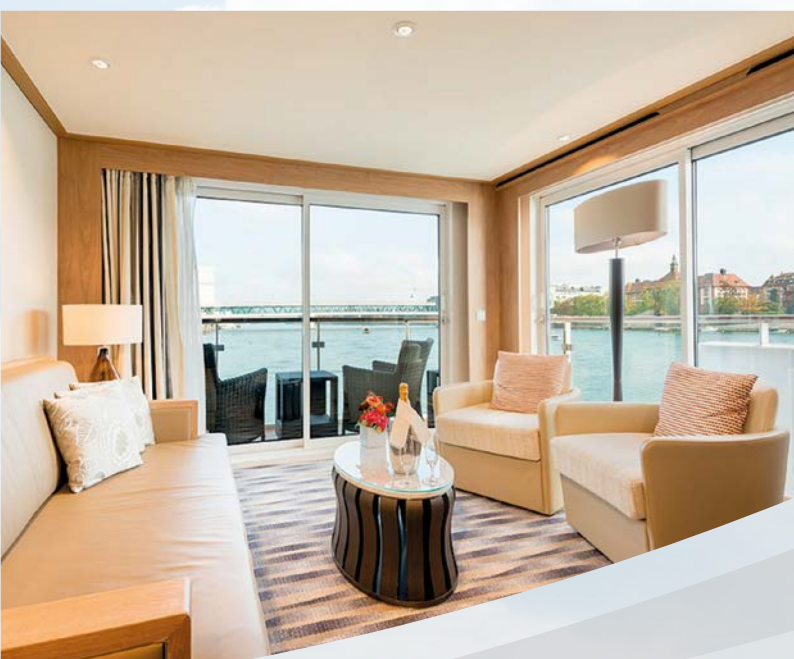

Operating in the HVAC business since 1979, EURAPO is a company based in Italy's industrious Northeast specializing in the manufacture of hydronic terminal units for heating and air-conditioning systems. A proactive approach, solid international experience and cutting-edge in-house Research & Development Laboratories to support designing and manufacturing operations together, make EURAPO a dynamic, resourceful enterprise capable of successfully catering to different applications.

In the marine field, for the past decade, EURAPO has been producing the RIVER-Range fan coil units that equip hundreds of river cruisers built by some of the world's leading companies.

After cruising up and down the great European rivers, EURAPO has evolved its expertise to develop a product designed exclusively for navigation on the open sea under the EURAPO MARINE brand. This has led to the creation of the new series of SEA-Range fan coil units: designed with ad hoc technological solutions, with selected, reliable materials and put through aerodynamic, thermal and acoustic testing, with performance certified by the EURAPO Laboratories.

With the
EURAPO MARINE SEA-Range, air conditioning sets sail for new horizons.

Today, SEA-Range is one of the jewels in the crown of the EURAPO range.

With its solid geometry, top-quality components and ergonomic content, designed specifically for sea cruisers, SEA-Range actually offers two important strategic advantages:

- compact units that are as small as possible to adapt to the space available;
- easy access from corridors for inspection and maintenance purposes, without needing to disturb the privacy of cabin guests.
